TURKS MUST TREAT WITH THE GREEKS

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ARE RESUMED IN LONDON TODAY

AT THE SAME TIME MESSAGES TELL OF LAND BATTLE BE-TWEEN GREEKS AND TURKS
RAGING IN EPIRUS.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The Balkan-Turkish peace negotiations were resumed today, the Turkish government having instructed its envoys to treat with the Greeks, although the reports today tell of a land battle being in progress between the Greeks and Turks at Epirus.

The Turks are demanding the privilege to revictual the garrisons
at Janina, Scutari and Adrianople, these cities now being in a state of siege by the Greeks.

Bombs Dropped on Turks—
ATHENS, Dec. 19.—A land battle is raging between the Greeks and Turks in Epirus, near Bizani today.
A Greek aviator flew over the Turkish position, dropping several bombs and doing much damage. The Turkish guns could not reach him.

Fleet Bottled Up—
ROME, Dec. 19.—Dispatches received here state that the Turkish fleet is bottled up in the Dardanelles by the Greek fleet. The Turkish ships are afraid to venture out from the protection of the Turkish forts.

NORTH AND SOUTH ARE AGAIN UNITED.

Miss Queenie Belle Sullivan and Fred R. Treu were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, 47 Second avenue, Rev. Dr.
B. F. Marsh, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

The rooms had been beautifully decorated for the event and quite a number of friends of the young couple were present at the wedding in which the ring service was used by Dr. Marsh. Following the service the couple took a carriage for 19 Myrtle avenue where they will make their home.

The bride is a daughter of the South and has been a resident of this city for several years, while the groom who is a young business man of Daytona, is originally from Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Treu received many handsome wedding presents and have the good wishes of a host of friends for their future happiness and prosperity.

TWO OFFICERS KILLED BY OUTLAW IN PHILIPPINES.

MANILA, Dec. 19.—Capt. John Watson of the Eighth cavalry, stationed at Jolo, was killed and Lieut. Kinzie Edmunds was fatally wounded last night by Juramentado, a Moro outlaw, who sneaked into camp while the men were sleeping. The outlaw was killed.

REMAINS OF IRA MILLER AT REST

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT SMITH HOME TODAY

BODY OF FORMER WELL KNOWN
RESIDENT OF DAYTONA LAID TO REST IN THE PINWOOD
CEMETERY.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Ira H. Miller, who died Monday morning in St. Augustine, were held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
George F. Smith on North Ridgewood avenue. The services were conducted by the Rev. B. F. Marsh, pastor of the Congregational church and interment was in the Pinewood cemtery.

The funeral services were attended by a large number of the friends of the deceased and the pallbearers were Messrs. F. N. Conrad, E. F.
Oates, M. P. Cornwall, L. M. Waite,
W. A. Gove and W. W. Foltz.

THE DAILY MARKET REPORT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Trading continued in the industrial list today and stocks were generally fractions lower.
Cotton was quiet and unchanged to four higher, with January quoted at $12.85.

The Chicago Markets—
CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—December
wheat, 85 3-4; January pork, $17.85;
lard, $9.90; ribs, $9.72; hogs 5c higher and cattle 10c higher.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Both the senate and house adjourned today until January 2. Most of the members of congress will spend the holiday season at their homes.

CUTS OFF WIFE'S HEAD WITH RAZOR

MURDERER THEN WOUNDS
THREE MEN IN MEMPHIS

POLICE, FIREMEN AND CITIZENS
JOIN IN EFFORT TO FORCE MAN OUT OF ROOM HE HAD BARRICADED.

MEMPHIS, Dec. 19.—Fifty policemen, 100 citizens and part of the fire department engaged today in a battle with a murderer who had decapitated his wife with a razor last night.

The murderer was Adam Behler,
a tinner, who, after the murder, barricaded himself in a room in a downtown lodging house.

While trying to gain an entrance to the room Spaulding Parsons, a drug clerk, was fatally wounded, Policeman James Wooten seriously wounded and Policeman Davis was slightly wounded.

After the battle had raged four hours the police rushed the room and riddled the murderer with bullets.

STRONGHEART IS SENTENCED TO ATLANTA

INDIAN HANDED 13 MONTHS
IN FEDERAL PENITENTIARY

SEMINOLE CONVICTED OF IMPER-
SONATING FEDERAL OFFICE AND IS SENTENCED THIS MORNING.

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 19.—John Strongheart, the Seminole Indian who was convicted yesterday on the charge of impersonating a federal officer, was this morning sentenced by Federal Judge John M. Cheney to serve 13 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

The trial of Strongheart, which began in the federal court here Monday, came to a close yesterday with the conviction of the Indian.
Sentence was postponed until this
morning.

This will probably be the end of the troubles encountered by the Indian during his trip through the state of Florida last winter. He has been in jail awaiting trial at Jacksonville for five months.

J. P. MORGAN NAMES STEEL DIRECTORS

HIS BANKS VOTING TRUSTEES
FOR THE BIG CORPORATIONS

NEW YORK FINANCIER SAYS HE BELIEVES RAILROADS BENEFIT BY BEING TIED UP WITH BANKS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—J. Pierpont Morgan was on the stand as a witness before the Pujo investigating committee today, and after establishing the fact that Morgan's bank carried deposits totaling $100,000,000, Attorney Samuel Untermyer asked for a list of the large depositors.
Mr. Morgan said he would produce it.

Questioning brought out the fact that Morgan's banks are the voting trustees for several large corporations, such as the New York Central, Michigan Central, Michigan Southern, Big Four, Southern railways, and several others.

Mr. Morgan says he believes the railroads benefit by being tied up with banks as their fiscal agents. He said he dictated the directorate of the United States Steel corporation and that he made J. P. Morgan & Co. the depository for the steel corporation. He denied the possibility of the existence of a "money trust."

At times Mr. Morgan seemed excited as Attorney Untermyer fired questions at him rapidly.

Mr. Morgan said that if all the money in Christendom were concentrated that would not give control.
No man can control all the money,
all the banks or all the credit.
Money is the one thing in which you can't have a trust.

The financier explained to the committee that the present spirit of paternalism exists because the stockholders neglect their duties. He sees no harm in having the same directors and boards partly the same, because the directors do not know the actual business of the banks. He modestly denied that he is the boss of Morgan & Co., and said the firm does many things without waiting for his approval.

Testifying regarding his stock in the First National bank as $1,000,000 and in the National Bank of Commerce as $5,000,000, Morgan said he does not regard either as a "very big block of stock."

PRESIDENT READY FOR TRIP SOUTH

LARGE PARTY WILL LEAVE
WASHINGTON THIS EVENING

CHIEF EXECUTIVE TO TRAVEL
THROUGH FLORIDA AND SAIL
FROM KEY WEST NEXT SAT-URDAY AFTERNOON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Accompanied by the largest private party which has ever traveled with a president of the United States, President Taft will leave Washington tonight for the commencement of the third trip which a president has ever made beyond the boundaries of his country. As in the case of the other two trips—one made by Roosevelt and the other by President Taft himself—Panama is the object of the tour, and the canal the subject of inspection officially.

Accompanying the president will be Mrs. Taft; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, the brother and sister-in-law of the President; Secretary to the President and Mrs. Charles Hilles, and a number of the members of the canal commission. None of the Taft children will be included in the party, as Miss Helen Taft recently returned from a tour of the Canal Zone with the secretary of war and Mrs. Stimson, while Robert Taft was unable to leave his studies and Charlie Taft did not care to go.

A large force of clerks from the White House and servants attached to the various members of the president's party will also be housed in the two special cars which will be attached to the "Key West Flyer" tonight. Special accommodations have been provided for all members of the party on the Arkansas, the battleship which will carry the party from Key West to Panama, and back to Norfolk, and it is expected that the chief executive and his friends will suffer little discomfort from the ordinarily cramped quarters of the warship.

According to the White House schedule the party will reach Key West Saturday afternoon, sailing at once for Panama. The dreadnought Delaware will carry the overflow of the presidential party and the small army of newspaper correspondents who will cover the trip. The three secret service men detailed to follow the president wherever he goes will be accommodated on the Arkansas.

Upon arrival at Panama, probably Tuesday next, the party will immediately disembark and the inspection of the great ditch will commence at once. Christmas Day will be spent at Cristobal and a great stock of holiday goods have been laid for the occasion.

After a four days' tour of inspection of the Canal Zone, the president and his party will sail from Panama on the Arkansas and Delaware on their return trip. The landing point

"Why, it is a nasty old photo. It's not like me. I am better looking than that," said a woman at Lambeth who, when charged with disorderly conduct, handed the magistrate her photograph to look at. "Look at that," she said, indignantly, "and see if you wouldn't swear if you were took like that."

KINGSTON.

Neighbors and friends gathered at the parsonage Thursday evening of last week, to give the pastor and his wife a "pounding." A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Rev. T. A. Adams left Tuesday for Tampa where he will attend the conference of the Southern Methodist church.

The bazaar held Saturday afternoon and evening by the ladies aid, was a success and the ladies cleared
 a neat sum.

G. C. DeBerry and family have moved to the Van Dorn cottage on Volusia avenue.

C. W. Brown has purchased the building in which he has his store on Ridgewood avenue.

Some excitement was created by the escape of two convicts who have been working on the streets. The first one was soon overtaken and when ordered down from the tree he had climbed, fell and was seriously injured. The second one escaped from the camp where he had been allowed to stay as he complained of being sick. The guards were soon notified and with the dogs were soon on the trail, but up to the present time he has not been found.

The ladies aid society met at the home of Mrs. D. Bradshaw and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be the first Friday in January at the home of Mrs. Byne, on Fairview.

Peter Weinand, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has purchased Miss Feasters' property on Ridgewood. He intends to improve it and began work there this week.

Mrs. T. A. Adams will spend her Christmas vacation with her parents in Madison.

The children are hard at work practicing for the Christmas celebration at the church.

Poor Children Have Best Teeth?
 A doctor in the British Medical Journal makes the statement that the most perfect teeth he has seen have been in the mouths of the children of the very poor—children who never possessed a tooth brush. This physician states that these youngsters eat more carbohydrates and less detergent material; also, they eat fewer sweets, and, possibly, which is more to the point, there is something in their organizations which resists both sweets and starch.

Commercial Dishonesty.
 The London chamber of commerce has gathered evidence showing that there is a growing disposition to misrepresent the nature, origin, quality, quantity and value of goods offered for sale, both at home and abroad.

"The Shelter" Sanitorium
 HAWKS PARK, FLORIDA
 17 Miles South of Daytona.
 No insane or contagious cases accepted. A Sanitorium, not a sanitarium. Rates, including nursing and medical attention, $25.00 per week.

MYSTERY OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Disappearance and Return of Lady's Summer Dress Couldn't Be Laid to the Servant.

Up spoke the woman who likes to keep her apartment in order;
 "A household mystery happens once in a while," she said "I had one a few days ago about a summer dress that I bought last fall when the weather was too cold to wear it. I packed it away and forgot about it until the other day.
 Then I went to the box in a certain closet where I knew I had put it. The dress wasn't there. I looked through the rest of the closet without any better success. Then I got excited and turned everything upside down everywhere that I thought it could be. Finally I went into the storeroom and looked through all the trunks. Not a sign of it. So I had to give it up.
 "Later my servant brought me a box which had come up the dumb waiter.
 Inside was my dress. There wasn't a mark on the box to show that it belonged to me. The only explanation I could think of was that some one had taken it, found that it didn't fit and had decided to return it."
 "It never occurred to you, did it, that that some one could have been your servant?" she was asked.
 "No, it didn't," said she with a smile. "You see, he's a Jap."—New York Sun.

WATERWAY IS DISCUSSED

GENERAL BIXBY, CHIEF OF EN-GINEERS, LISTENS TO ARGU-MENTS BY INTERESTED MEN
 FROM FLORIDA.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—"I feel hopeful," said Congressman Frank Clark when asked as to the prospects for securing an additional appropriation of $500,000 for work in the St.
 Johns river, "in that we will be successful in this matter. We took it up with Col. Sparkman, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, and with John G. Christopher, the special representative of the Jacksonville board of trade, and made a very favorable impression. I think, before the committee.

"Of course, it must be understood that with so many persons asking for increases in appropriations and Florida being so much of a waterway there may be a disposition to hold us down somewhat in this matter. However, you may say that everything within reason is being done to further the project and that I shall leave no stone unturned to get every available dollar which the committee feels it can rightly give us."

Mr. Clark and Senators Bryan and Fletcher appeared before General Bixby, chief of engineers, relative to the inland waterway from Beaufort, N. C., to Key West. In addition to them Col. T. J. Brown was also there and took a leading part in the meeting. As Col. Brown is looking after the interests of Key West here he was an important factor in the gathering. The Floridians are enthusiastic over the proposition and believe that it is only a question of time before this intercoastal waterway will be fully developed.

Some Oil Spouter.
 The mammoth gusher of the Pearson oil interests in the Potrero de Llano field, state of Vera Cruz, Mex., was recently allowed to perform for 20 minutes for officials of the Texas company and the Gulf Mining Refining company, according to the Mining and Scientific Press. The gate valve was opened for the first time since the well was brought under control, and a column of oil shot into the air to a height of 490 feet. The flow was estimated at 100,000 barrels daily. With the possible exception of the Dos Bo-cas gusher, which burned out, the Potrero is the greatest in the history of the oil industry.

Kissimmee packers are busy these days packing and shipping the golden fruit. It is estimated that 150 carloads have gone from that place and the quality of the fruit is said to be extra fine and as a consequence the market is affording a good price.

Whirled around the drum of an elevator which he was inspecting, Chief Engineer Luther Lowell of the San Carlos in Pensacola escaped with nothing more serious than the laceration of one finger.

Seed potatoes are beginning to arrive in Hastings. Three cars have been received at the yards and it is expected that receipts will soon become heavy. The seed stock received is reported to be of fine quality and of good size.

County Commissioners W. B. Moody
 and E. J. DeVane, recently indicted by the grand jury in Tampa, will be placed on trial at the session of the criminal court of record at the next session, which will begin in the Gulf city January 6th.

The fight for liberty for J. A.
 Thompson, alias Louis Hall, alias Carter, wanted in New York on alleged wire tapping charges, came to an end in St. Augustine when Governor Gilchrist ordered the man held without bail for requisition papers from Governor Dix in New York.

Henry N. Gough has been placed in jail at St. Petersburg on a charge of shooting at his wife with a shotgun. The woman was not hit and the man claims he did not shoot at anybody. He had to be handcuffed to be placed in jail and when he was locked in the cell he began to rave.

The three packing houses here have been running on full time for several weeks and have packed many cars of fruit, about 30,000 boxes to date, and they will ship several cars more before they shut down for the holidays. After the holidays all these houses will open again about Dec.
 30. They have done well and will do well again after the holiday season.—Fort Meade Leader.

Despondent over the loss of his health, Capt. R. D. Gordon, one of the best known former pilots on the St.
 Johns bar ended his life by inhaling illuminating gas at a sanitarium in Jacksonville. He had appeared to be in unusually good spirits during the day, but when left alone in his room at night he turned on the gas jets and placed a connecting tube near his face. In a few minutes the room was filled with gas and its victim completely overcome.

John Livingston, a former police officer in Lake City, was killed by the officers in that city in an attempt to arrest him at the depot. Livingston had been arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and had been placed in jail. With several other prisoners he broke out of jail, armed himself with a shot gun and defied the officers to arrest him a second time. In the attempt to arrest him he fired twice at the officers, who returned the fire with fatal results.

PICK ODD NOOKS FOR NESTS

Swallows Are Cunning Builders But Sometimes Select Precarious Sites for Homes.

Swallows are diligent and cunning builders of nests, but they are not always wise in their choice of a locality. In proof of this a couple of birds last year chose a secluded corner among the rafters of my barn and managed to hatch and rear their young successfully.

This year a couple, probably the same, repaired the nest and laid their eggs. But one morning both birds were found lying dead on the floor, the windows having been closed and the door locked by a too careful servant. A favorite place for a swallow to build its nest is the upper corner of a window.

This situation is to say the least precarious, as an energetic housemaid has merely unintentionally or otherwise to draw down the sash and the nest is at once in ruins. I remember once quite unintentionally acting the part of the energetic housemaid. I drew down the sash and managed just in time to save the structure from falling to pieces.

Supporting it with my hands, I told one of my boys to bring his schoolbag, and having fastened it securely to the window, deposited therein the remains of the nest and the young family of birds.

The parents were shy at first, but on closer investigation, having satisfied themselves that their little ones were still alive, they accommodated themselves to the situation and brought up their family in the usual way, sending them at length into the world doubtless all the wiser for their nurture in this abode of learning. A similar misfortune happened this summer to a swallow's nest in the window of a cottage in the Cheviot hills.

This time the nest was almost totally destroyed, but help came from a probably unlooked-for quarter. The dismayed cries of the feathered builders attracted their companions, who flocked around in large number and rendered every assistance in repairing the damage.—The Scotsman.

Crushed by a Caddie.
"It is not always safe to fish for compliments," says a Washington man, who travels quite a bit, "and I recently learned a lesson in this regard from a caddie attached to a golf club near this town.

"I was going round the links one afternoon and making a dreadful exhibition of myself. I did not, however, know that my caddie was fully aware of this, as he seemed so blissfully unconscious that anything was wrong. He was a nice, freckled little Irishman, and I took quite a fancy to him, especially as never a hint came from him that I was doing badly. At the end of the round, in the hope of a 'jolly' from the lad, I ventured to observe:

"I've been traveling for the last two months, and am dreadfully out of practice. That's why I'm in such bad form today."

"To which the caddie calmly replied: 'Oh, then you've played before, sir!'"

Destruction of Rats.
An East Africa publication contains a description of a method of destroying rats, followed in Java, in which carbon bisulphate is employed. In carrying out the method a small quantity, usually about half a teaspoonful of the carbon bisulphide is poured into the rat hole and after waiting a few moments to let the fluid evaporate, the mixture of air and vapor is lighted, a small explosion resulting and filling the hole with poisonous gas, killing the rats instantly. Such a process practiced openly might be objectionable under some circumstances because of danger from fire resulting from the explosion and a field for invention appears to offer itself to provide some form of fire-proof gun or explosion chamber suitably formed to be inserted in the mouth of the rat hole and adapted to enclose the explosion and discharge the resulting noxious gas into the hole.—Scientific American.

Not a Flattering Opinion.
Bobbis—"Does young Dr. Squills know much about medicine?" Slobbs—"Well, I should say that what he doesn't know about medicine would fill a morgue."

Our Fortune.
We should manage our fortune as we do our health—enjoy it when good, be patient when it is bad and never apply violent remedies except in case of violent necessity.—La Rochefoucauld.

Philip of Orleans, the Man Who "Made" Money

PARIS swarmed like a beehive. Every house was occupied. People paid as high as $50 a week for the privilege of renting an unfurnished attic. From every part of France, from all parts of Europe, frenzied men and women—money-drunk—thronged to the French capital.

For the greatest "get-rich-quick" scheme on record was in progress. And its promoter and chief backer was Philip, duke of Orleans, regent of France. At his side stood a canny Scotchman, John Law by name, Philip, coached by Law, was literally "making" money. He was manufacturing it for his own benefit as he might have manufactured cigars or tin cans. It was a pleasant and profitable business. When the regent needed money he ordered bills to be engraved and used them at will—regardless of the fact that there was no real cash in the treasury to meet the bills when they should be presented. A man walking a tight rope over Niagara falls is engaged in a safe and sane business compared with this money-making scene of Philip's. And when the crash came poverty swept the land like a plague.

Philip was the nephew of King Louis XIV. of France. He began life with splendid prospects. He was brilliant, brave, of attractive personality and with strong talent as a statesman and soldier. But in youth his tutor, Dubois (whom he afterward made prime minister of France), taught him to sneer at morality and goodness and to revel in a life of low dissipation. In spite of these drawbacks Philip made a name for himself. He was so fine a general and so successful in France's wars that Louis XIV. grew jealous of his fame and withdrew him from the field. Next he plotted to seat himself on the Spanish throne. And again court influence checked him. So he devoted himself to the study of chemistry, including the art of preparing poisons. And soon afterward nearly all the heirs to the throne of France suddenly died. Philip was accused of poisoning them in order to gain the crown himself. He denied this and demanded a trial. Old Louis XIV., who hated him, refused Philip even this doubtful chance to clear himself.

When Louis XIV. died, in 1715, the next heir to the throne (Louis XV.) was only five years of age. Philip (brushing by the obstacles Louis XIV. had raised against such an act) had himself declared regent of the kingdom until the new king should be of age. He found France in an almost bankrupt condition through the late king's extravagances, and he tried to start an era of prosperity. Instead, he started an avalanche of misfortune.

John Law (a gambler, who had been forced to flee from Scotland for dueling and who had been expelled from two continental cities as an "undesirable") came to Paris and suggested to Philip a scheme for wiping out France's national debt and putting the country, financially, on its feet. The idea, roughly, was this:

To establish a state bank that should handle all public funds and to run it in connection with a company for exploiting Louisiana and the rest of the Mississippi region. (New Orleans was named in honor of Philip.) The shores of the Mississippi were supposed to be lined with rich gold and silver mines.

The boom began. Shares that were issued at $100 ran up to $4,000. Law promised annual dividends of 120 per cent. on the stock. France went money-mad. People clamored for a chance to invest in the wonderful scheme. Law paid the dividends in treasury notes, which may or may not have had some genuine value. But whatever value they had was at once ruined by Philip, who proceeded to print paper money in huge quantities for his own use and for other purposes, without bothering about the fact that there was not nearly enough real money in the bank to justify it.

Everybody had money (made of paper.) Beggars bought mansions. Servants drove in gilded coaches. Poverty seemed abolished. And as paper money flooded the country the price of everything from soup to diamonds rose with it. Calico, for instance, cost as much as had silk. But no one cared. For everybody seemed to have plenty of paper currency.

A few wise people tried to "cash in" their paper notes for gold and silver. Philip quickly stopped this by declaring it illegal for any one to possess more than a certain amount of genuine money and by punishing those who tried to get rid of their paper notes.

Then, all at once the scheme fell flat. The "Mississippi Bubble" burst. Panic raged. Thousands were impoverished. John Law fled the country. Philip alone escaped and lived on in dissolute comfort. He died in 1723, aged 49, his health prematurely shattered by the wild life he had led.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

O. K. at Last.

A man with a low voice had just completed his purchases in the department store.

"What is the name?" asked the clerk.

"Jepson," replied the man.

"Chipson?"

"No; Jepson."

"Oh, yes, Jefferson?"

"No; Jepson, J-e-p-s-o-n."

"Jepson?"

"That's it. You have it. Sixteen eighty-two."

"Your first name; initial, please."

"Oh, K."

"O. K. Jepson."

"Excuse me; it isn't O. K. You did not understand me. I said 'Oh.'"

"O. Jepson."

"No; rub out the O. and let the K stand."

The clerk looked annoyed. "Will you please give me your initials again?"

"I said K."

"I beg your pardon—you said O. K. Perhaps you had better write it yourself."

"I said 'Oh.'"

"Just now you said K."

"Allow me to finish what I started. I said 'Oh' because I did not understand what you were asking me. I did not mean that it was my initial. My name is Kirby Jepson."

"Oh."

"No, not O, but K. Give me the pencil, and I'll write it down for you myself. There; I guess it's O. K. now."

—Brooklyn Eagle.

Saved His Life.

An Irishman applying for a pension at Washington insisted upon the justice of his claim owing to the fact that he had been wounded while in the service of his country.

"How and where were you wounded?" one of the committee inquired.

Placing his hand over his heart, he said, "I was shot in the breast on a retreat from Bull Run, yer honor."

"Shot through the breast on a retreat?" said the committeeman. "How could you be shot through the breast on a retreat?"

"I had the indiscretion to turn and look back, yer honor."

"But if you were shot through the breast in the place you indicate the ball would have gone through your heart. How is that?"

"Me heart was in me mouth at the time, yer honor."

He got his pension.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Did the Best She Could.

Bell found out is ever so much worse than committing the crime, most of us believe. Small Dorothy thinks so. One morning just before the school term closed she grew restless and found her lessons a task.

Outside the birds were singing, and all outdoors was so beautiful she decided she would write an "excuse" and spend the rest of the day playing. She spelled out the words in her nearest penmanship and took the paper up to teacher. One glance was sufficient to prove to the lady that the child's mother had not written it.

Questioned, she would confess nothing and was finally sent home with a note telling the parents what she had done. When they tried to talk to her she sobbed out: "Well, mamma, I don't know why you all scold me so. I tried to write it as near like you as I could."

—Kansas City Journal.

Mere Mediocrity.

"I used to think I possessed the artistic temperament—the sacred fire—but I was mistaken. I'm just one among the millions of common people."

"You have no right to say that! You have done some splendid things—things that you could not possibly have done if you had merely been one among the millions of common people."

"No, you're mistaken. I'm just an ordinary, everyday man. Why, my wife has lived with me for eleven years without ever once thinking of getting a divorce!"—Judge's Library.

Where He Was.

The mayor of a small town was trying a negro for abusing his wife. She claimed he got drunk and tried to beat her and she hit him. The mayor turned to their little girl and asked:

"Girl, was your father under the influence of whisky when your mother hit him?"

"No, sah. He was under the kitchen table," she quickly replied.—National Monthly.

In Wrong.

Lady (at fashionable ball)—Do you know that ugly gentleman sitting opposite to us?

Partner—That is my brother, madam.

Lady (in confusion)—Ah, I beg your pardon. I had not noticed the resemblance.—Dundee Advertiser.

The Usual Method.

Pa—Embrace me, Thora. Rezinah has asked your hand in marriage.

Thora—But I don't want to leave mother, Pa.

Pa—Oh, never mind that. Take her along with you.—Sray Stories.

A Fixed Habit.

Smith—Has your son any fixed habit that worries you as to his future?

Jones—Yes. He fights about ten rounds every morning with the alarm clock.—Judge.

Repartee.

Mrs. Youngwife—Do you cook lobster?

New Cook—Always, mum. Do you eat yours raw?—Brooklyn Life.

BALLOON No. 7

It Clears Away the Cloud

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Maisie Pomeroy dismissed her pupils and locked the door of the little school house. It lacked three days of the long vacation, and the last hours of the school year dragged heavily, for June weather was insistently calling. Her homeward walk led along pleasant country lanes and through clover fields crisscrossed with narrow footpaths.

In Maisie's pocket was her last month's salary, and in spite of June weather and the calling bobolink her heart was heavy with disappointment, though her face wore its usual expression of unruffled sweetness. Just the amount of that month's salary would take her to a large summer resort, where she might have two weeks of such enjoyment as she had never known in her monotonous life. She had read of the pleasures of this city by the sea, she had known girls whose parents were well to do to spend several months there, and now Ella Shaw had written to say they were going and wished Maisie to join them. It was to be "Dutch treat," and she knew that meant each girl was to pay her own expenses.

She had not even mentioned the matter to her mother, for she knew that their resources were badly strained this year. There was an uncle who had been bedridden for two years, and they were now maintaining his declining days in the hospital, where he could be best cared for. As Maisie was the only wage earner in their family of two, it was important—prohibitive, rather—that not one penny be wasted.

"If Bloomfield were not so dull," she murmured wistfully. "Ever since I can remember there has never been any unusual happening here. No new families ever move here, and nobody ever marries anybody that lives farther than Fairmount. I don't wonder there are so many maiden ladies in this village." She smiled as she pushed open the front gate, for there on the front piazza sat her mother, dispensing cake and root beer to five of Bloomfield's spinsters. Some day she, too, would form one of a similar group.

"Lots of news, Maisie," cried Emma Risley as the girl sat down on the top step and sipped a glass of the cool beverage.

"News?" repeated Maisie; then she added quickly: "Oh, you mean the new daggle in front of the town hall? I saw that yesterday."

"No, indeed; that's old! What do you think is going to happen in Bloomfield?" Emma was bursting with importance, and the four other spinsters nodded their heads significantly.

"A-circus?" There were painfully few things that ever had happened in Bloomfield, and Maisie's imagination was starved.

"No, sir! What do you think of balloon races here?" Miss Risley's voice was triumphant.

"Balloon races?" echoed Maisie blankly.

"Ten balloons all starting at once from Cabot's big hayfield?"

"When is it going to be?" asked Maisie.

"In three weeks. The men have been here and looked over the grounds, and the lumber is on the way. All the rooms at the hotel have been engaged for the workmen. You see, I knew about it the first one because I hold a first mortgage on Cabot's big field," explained Emma Risley importantly, "and Joshua Cabot spoke to me about the matter."

When they had chatted themselves away Maisie and her mother sat on the piazza until the sun went down. They talked about the coming of the balloonists and how it had been learned that Bloomfield was chosen because of some special advantage it possessed for the purpose, and everybody said that once the city excursionists saw what a beautiful spot Bloomfield really was there would start an influx of summer boarders and possibly a land boom.

"Mother, dear," half sighed Maisie, "I was complaining this very afternoon of the dullness here, and as I walked home through Cabot's field I was wishing almost anything would happen to break the monotony. Now that something is going to happen I am feeling sorry about the clover fields. They are so beautiful."

Mrs. Pomeroy laughed softly and caressed her daughter's bronze hair. "That's the way with all of us, my dear. I have known for a long time that you were weary of the monotony of your life, and I cannot blame you. When I was a girl somehow we seemed to get more out of life even if we never went away from the village. There were parties every week and socials and spelling classes and skating parties. The winter was always too short for all the good times we had. Nowadays the girls and young men go away to the cities, and those that remain and marry here don't seem to care for the old simple pleasures."

"Perhaps after the balloon races are over we will rejoice in our old time quiet. But somehow I would like to have just a taste of life and pleasure before"—Maisie flushed and bit her lip.

"Before what, dear?"

"I know I'm horrid, mother, but I was going to say before I settled down into a regulation Bloomfield old maid, cried the girl, hiding her face in her mother's lap.

Mrs. Pomeroy smiled indulgently. "You are sure of that, Maisie? You tell Walter Avery never to come back to Bloomfield?"

For a long time Maisie was silent. Then she threw up her head and tossed the straying locks from her flushed cheeks. Her brown eyes were very bright.

"I told him things that I am sure he will never forgive," she said slowly. "I said I would never marry a Bloomfield boy and settle down into a humdrum existence. I said I could never think of him seriously; that every time I looked at him he seemed to be the same chubby faced, apple cheeked little boy I went to school with years ago."

"What did Walter say to that?" Mrs. Pomeroy's face was grave, though her brown eyes were shining, too, and they looked much like Maisie's.

"He didn't say anything. He just nodded his head in that awkward way of his and went off. The next I heard he was in New York studying to be a doctor. You know he has never been home since." Maisie's tone was unconsciously wistful.

The days before the great event that was to transform Bloomfield from a sleepy country village into a fashionable rendezvous for a day were filled with preparations for the balloon races. As if by magic all the daisies in Cabot's field were laid to the ground and grand stands were erected and huge gas tanks put in place. School was ended, and Maisie walked in other directions when she chose to be outdoors. Now, she only remembered Cabot's field as the place where Walter had met her one day and confessed his love among the daisies, which are supposed never to tell lovers' secrets.

Maisie was disturbed by these memories that forced themselves upon her. She did not wish to think of Walter Avery, and she had dismissed him from her mind for four years and resented that she could not banish him from her memory. She felt sure that out there in the big world there was waiting for her an ideal lover, handsome, courtly, polished, rich.

At last came Bloomfield's great day. The road to Cabot's field was black with vehicles of every description. By 10 o'clock every seat in the stands was filled, and the four sides of the great field were lined with carriages, motor cars and farm wagons. Maisie and her mother were there and by good fortune and the kind offices of Emma Risley had secured front row seats in one of the stands. Ten big balloons swayed slowly, tugging at their anchor ropes. There were a smell of escaping gas, the music of a band and the sound of many voices. Maisie found herself enjoying the excitement. If this was life she would like a taste of it!

Emma Risley leaned across Maisie and spoke to Mrs. Pomeroy. "I hear Walter Avery's going up in one of the balloons. You know he's quite an amateur balloonist. Mrs. Avery is worried almost to death about it."

"Ballooning is a dangerous sport," returned Mrs. Pomeroy's calm voice. "but I suppose Walter finds it a relaxation from his professional work."

"I guess he deserves all the fun he gets. They say he worked like a Trojan to get his degree, and now he's to go in partnership with a city doctor." Emma Risley sat back in her seat. "There, they're off, Maisie! I wonder which is Walter's balloon. Let me see your program—No. 7 (that's a lucky number, anyway, Dr. Avery! Isn't that funny? Seems as if I could see Walter as he was when he came to school to me years ago. Think of his being a doctor!"

Maisie was thinking entirely too much for her own good. She was thoroughly frightened at the idea of Walter Avery's ascension in the balloon. She could see No. 7 now. That was Walter, tall, slender, supple of form, his dark hair blowing back from his forehead. He was looking their way. Was he looking at her? She told herself that he could merely see the crowd of white faces; that he could not pick out individuals. Still he stared, and then, just as the anchors were cast adrift and he started up, he waved a handkerchief toward them. Suddenly Maisie's little handkerchief broke into a fluttering signal. The fresh breeze tore it from her hand, and it whirled upward with balloon No. 7.

Walter leaned out, deftly caught the bit of white, tucked it in his breast and amid the cheers of the crowd went up to an altitude that caused hearts to throb and cheeks to pale with apprehension. When the last ship had become a mere speck in the sky the crowd dispersed to other diversions and Maisie and her mother went home. It would be late in the afternoon before the balloons might be sighted on the return trip, provided they were not driven before adverse winds. Then their return would be uncertain indeed. There was an excellent chance that some of them would never come back. Maisie Pomeroy never forgot that waiting time. In those hours did all the foolish longing and discontentment that had possessed her. There was only one thing she craved, and that was the life of Walter Avery, whether he loved her now or not. She knew that she loved him.

With the evening came the return of the balloonists, every one safe. Walter Avery winning the second prize, which he did not care a fig for, because a greater prize awaited him in Mrs. Pomeroy's old fashioned garden. Bloomfield is a thriving suburb now, and life there is by no means dull and commonplace. The balloon ground is now a baseball field.

Some Facts About Pumpelly, Yale Football Star.

Here are few facts about Harold Pumpelly, Yale halfback, who saved his team from defeat against Princeton recently by kicking a goal from the field in the last few minutes of play. He is a New York state boy hailing from Oswego, is twenty-two years old, five feet ten inches and weighs 183 pounds. He prepared for the New Haven university at Hotchkiss school. Last year he played brilliantly on the freshman team. His kicking of field goals won many hard fought games for the "freshies." Next season he is sure of a place as halfback on the Yale eleven.

Burns May Be Made a Regular.

In all probability Burns will be a regular in the Giant outfield next season. He loomed up strongly in the games he was in this year, and it was a matter of speculation why he was not used oftener. George is not twenty-two years old. He has been picking up rapidly, and another course of spring training should about fit him for a regular berth in the Giant outfield.

This was Burns' first season in fast company. Following his usual policy, McGraw gave the Utica boy plenty of time to absorb baseball knowledge. Every youngster, no matter how talented, is in need of polish which only can be attained by actual experience. This is the reason why the "Little Napoleon" puts all his rookies through a bench course in preparation for the big show, and the fans know how well it has worked.

Callahan Has Real Slugger For First. Jimmy Callahan of the Chicago White Sox seems to have picked up a prize in Borton, the young first baseman who finished the season with Chicago last fall. Borton not only batted himself well around the bag, but he was fourth among the league hitters, having an average of .371 in thirty-one games.

This record may be but a flash in the pan, though good judges of ball players see in Borton a coming star. Borton is scarcely twenty-one, well built and fast on his feet. He appears to be by far the best youngster Chicago has picked up in some years.

Change Penn Coaching System.

Dissatisfied with the coaching methods in vogue at the University of Pennsylvania, a number of wealthy graduates have banded together to raise a large amount of money with which to engage George Brooke to take charge of the Red and Blue football team next year.

Brooke is at present coaching the Swarthmore eleven, which was one of the three minor colleges coached by Penn graduates to take the measure of Penn this season. The offer will be put up to the advisory council for action.

French Bantam Built Like Langford.

Charles Ledoux, the French bantam who recently came over to America, can fight just as well with his left or his right leg extended. During a fight he occasionally adopts the K. O. Brown attitude.

He is called the "Little Sam Langford." He is short and has a tremendous torso, with small legs.

His reach is six inches longer than his height, which is five feet one inch. He is a freak in this respect, as an ordinary man's reach is the same as his height.

Germans Rush Olympic Stadium.

Work will be pushed on the new Olympic stadium at Berlin, where the Olympic games will be held in 1916. It will probably be finished in time to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Kaiser's accession, which will occur next year.

The stadium is to be in the middle of the large Grawwold race course on the west side of Berlin. It will be about half an hour's ride by train from the center of the city.

Frenchmen Want Yankee Trainer.

American coaches will be asked to help prepare the French athletes for the next Olympic games. This is the outcome of the poor performance of French athletes at Stockholm and the brilliant showing made there by the Americans. France has taken the lesson of the games to heart and is forming an organization already to get ready a representative and properly trained team for the Berlin games.

INTERESTING RIDE AND DRIVES POINTS WORTH VISITING

OCEAN BEACH—excellent motor road north for 10 miles and some miles to Mosquito Inlet and Government lighthouse at Ponce Park. The beach is the most magnificent in the world.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Ormond, is one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth visiting; can be reached by motor on fairly good road; can also be reached by boat.

NUMBER NINE ORANGE GROVE—large grove, passed on the way to the Beed, Knox & Beed grove, is 12 miles from Daytona.

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard surface road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. At New Smyrna are the ruins of an ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is contended that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—at Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona, is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

MAMMOTH TREE—4 miles from Daytona; an abnormally large tree; reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona; the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Stetson university; a very picturesque city; reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles south of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona; here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or the trip one way may be made by the road and crossing the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the return can be made on the ocean beach.

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—2 miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seabreeze; the links are now in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon bears the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

GENERALLY, you may motor in any direction from Daytona and find places and objects of interest which your driver can explain to you; there are many by-roads through the sylvan vegetation that a visitor will greatly enjoy.

OF LABOR TO BE FILLEDWILSON WILL HAVE TEN
CABINET PLACES TO FILLBILL CREATING NEW DEPART-MENT MAY BE PASSED AT THIS SESSION SO REPUBLICANS MAY SHARE CREDIT.WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President elect Wilson when he assumes the reins of government, will have ten cabinet positions to fill instead of nine, if the plans of the democratic leaders are carried into effect.The new portfolio will be that of secretary of labor, for the purpose is to divide the present department of commerce and labor into two departments, each to be presided over by a member of the president's official family. A bill providing for a department of labor which originated in the house and passed that body last session, is now pending in the senate.The democrats are not particular whether the senate passes the bill or not. As a matter of fact they would be just as well satisfied if the measure were to remain in the pigeon hole of the present committee on labor. They would then take it up at the forthcoming extra session of congress which Mr. Wilson has promised to call. It would then be a strictly democratic measure and the republicans would then be barred from sharing any credit for it. As the matter now stands it is of democratic origin, but if the present republican senate passes it and Mr.
Taft is given an opportunity to sign it, they will claim a part of the honor for its enactment.The democratic platform adopted at Baltimore contains a plank demanding the creation of such a department and Governor Wilson in several of his speeches during the campaign strongly committed himself to it as did other democratic spellbinders. It was also used as a trump card wherever the votes of organized labor were sought, and, of course, that was wherever there were any labor votes to be had. The unions throughout the country have long been demanding it; in fact, they asked for a separate labor department at the time the department of commerce and labor was organized, but were obliged to be content for the time being with a union with commerce, and the several bureaus which were placed under it.Thus far the senate leaders have not indicated their disposition toward the pending measure. If there should be any disposition to enter into any extended debate upon it, the probabilities are that it would not go through, as the senate will have its hands full in the two months following the holiday recess in disposing of the long drawn out Archbald impeachment trial which is likely to run on for several weeks yet, and with the consideration and passage of the various appropriation bills which are necessary. If the senate leaders were disposed to bring up the bill and put it through without discussion they could do so, but thus far they have not peeped in regard to the matter.At present the leading aspirant for the labor portfolio is representative William B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania.
Wilson is chairman of the committee on labor in the present house, and it is generally agreed that he hasdone much to aid tollers. He is a union man, was for many years a worker in the Pennsylvania coal mines, and has been an officer and conspicuous in the United Mine Workers organization. He was a candidate for re-election after having served in the house three terms, but to the surprise of himself and his friends he was defeated, largely, it is said, through over confidence. It was thought that he stood in no danger of losing his seat and hence his supporters did not give the attention to his district which they otherwise would have done.Now they are organizing to land him in the cabinet, and his defeat for congress may kick him up stairs into higher office. The labor unionists are especially active in his behalf and appeals, petitions and letters have been written to Governor Wilson, urging his appointment to the head of the department of labor when it shall be organized.The difficulties which William Wilson is said to be likely to encounter are two fold. In the first place the Keystone state failed to swing into line for the democratic nominee, while almost every state was tumbling over itself to get into the democratic column. The question has accordingly been raised, "Is a state which cast its electoral vote for Roosevelt entitled to a place in the cabinet of a democratic president?"
The friends of Wilson present an array of argument to show that this matter is not worthy of consideration, but at the same time they are up against the showing made in other states and the pressing demands of the democrats of those states for recognition.Again, Pennsylvania has one or two other aspirants for places in the new cabinet. Chief among these is Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, the head of the democratic organization in the state, and one of the most diligent of the workers for Governor Wilson both before the convention and during the campaign which followed. The votes of the Keystone state in the Baltimore convention which constituted the largest delegation Wilson had to start with, undoubtedly did much toward eventually landing him the nomination, and Palmer was responsible in a great measure for lining them up for him.
Thus far no controversy has arisen between Representative Wilson and Representative Palmer, but if it should arise both might be left out of the cabinet.REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

A. B. FOSTER AND FAMILY ENJOYING LIFE IN THE WEST

SPENDING WINTER IN LOS ANGELES, WHERE REAL ESTATE AGENTS ARE THICKER THAN MOSQUITOES IN LAGOON.

Los Angeles, Dec. 11, 1912.

Editor Gazette-News: — We have been located in this, the metropolis of the Pacific Coast, the city where real estate agents, both male and female, are thicker than mosquitoes in the lagoon, and where every resident is a booster, since Nov. 3. We have received the Gazette-News fairly regular via Cleveland, which is a long way round, so desire it mailed here until June 1st, as we expect to remain here until that time and can not get along without the Daytona News.

In many ways this is a wonderful country and Los Angeles is a wonderful city. Probably no city in the world is growing so rapidly. It is a city where 75 per cent. of the people are directly or indirectly interested and engaged in the real estate business, and where everybody is a boomer, ready and willing to tell the tenderfoot all the good things about the wonderful country, and explain that the sand storms, cold nights, the rainy season, etc., are blessings in disguise, that add to your health and comfort after you are located here. The slogan of all here is a "million population by 1920," and if the present growth and enthusiasm continues they will make it.

The hundreds of miles of beautiful roads here make autoing one of our greatest pleasures, and we spend most of our time in that way and will until the rainy season sets in, which is soon due.

The nights are very cold and such a coldness it goes to the bone. We have had a furnace fire nearly every day since we have been here. Can you beat it in Florida? Oh, yes, this is a great country. No discount on that. Never-the-less, we long for Beautiful Daytona and our many friends who are sensibly gathered there for the winter, and we wish them all a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Sincerely, A. B. FOSTER.

PRESIDENT TAFT READY FOR THE TRIP SOUTH

this time will be Norfolk, and it is expected that the voyage will consume only about four days, as the president has given orders that he is to be back in Washington, without fail, in time to hold his annual New Years reception at the White House—a function which has not been missed for several decades.

Upon his return to Washington it is expected the chief executive will send the nomination of the new governor of the Canal Zone to congress and it is anticipated that Col. Goethals, the constructor of the canal, will be the man named.

CRAFT CROSSES STATE; FIRST TIME IN HISTORY.

TAMPA, Fla. Dec. 19 — For the first time in history a steamer completed a trip by water across the state of Florida when the Suwannee, owned by Charles W. Ward of Illustrated Outdoor World and Recreation magazines landed at Fort Lauderdale on the East Coast of Florida. The route is via the Caloosahatchee river, Lake Okechobee and the Fort Lauderdale canal from Fort Myers on the West Coast.

GUNN LOSES SUIT FOR DAMAGES

ATTORNEYS SAY IT WILL BE TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

JACKSONVILLE CITY ATTORNEY ASKS JUDGE TO INSTRUCT THE JURY FOR DEFENDANT AND MOTION IS GRANTED.

E. L. Gunn has returned from Jacksonville, where he was in attendance at court when the case of his brother, Edward O. Gunn, who brought suit against the city of Jacksonville for $25,000 damages for injuries, was called.

The damage suit resulted from a fall received by Mr. Gunn about a year ago and in which he received permanent injuries. For a time it was thought the injuries would prove fatal.

As soon as all the evidence submitted by the plaintiff in the suit had been presented to the court, City Attorney P. H. Odom of Jacksonville made a motion that the court instruct the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. The motion was granted by the judge.

Attorney Alex St. Clair Abrams, who represents the plaintiff, has given notice that the suit will be appealed to the state supreme court.

ORDERS SIGNED BY JUDGE; NEW SUITS INSTITUTED.

Judge Perkins has signed the following orders which have this week been entered on the minutes of the circuit court:

W. J. Burns vs. R. W. Tucker, et al. order appointing commissioners in partition.

Walter L. Reynolds vs. Mary E. Reynolds, order for leave to file cross bill in divorce suit.

Two new suits have been instituted in chancery and two on the law side of the circuit court. The chancery suits are Bertha K. Smith vs. R. L. Smith, and Betsy Wiggins vs. Moses Wiggins. The new law suits are entitled Florida Paper Co. vs. John W. Griffiths, and Merchants Broom Co. vs. D. F. Morrison.
